

A Genetic Study on the Lyngam of Meghalaya

Tabris Jalal Ahmed, Sarthak Sengupta and A.K. Ghosh

Department of Anthropology, North Eastern Hill University, Shillong 793 014, Meghalaya, India

KEYWORDS Ethnic Affinity. Genetic Markers. Tribe

ABSTRACT On the basis of ABO blood groups, Rh factor, PTC taste sensitivity and colour blindness, it is suggested that the Lyngam seems to be ethnically a distinct population. The present findings are discussed in detail in the light of available data on the neighbouring allied groups of Meghalaya, India.