

Water Resource Management and Socio-Cultural Adaptations in a River Island Community

Jesurathnam Devarapalli

*Department of Anthropology, Pondicherry University, Pondicherry 605 014, India
E-mail: drjesudev@gmail.com*

KEYWORDS River Island. Water Resource Management. Agricultural Innovation. Socio-Cultural Adaptation.

ABSTRACT This paper attempts at understanding the changes in water resource management practices and the related socio-cultural adaptations in a river island community, consequent to the introduction of an agricultural innovation. It is observed that the changed scenario has necessitated new relationships and cooperation across the castes.